

I fell in love with Web Development way back in the days of Myspace (the original facebook). When I turned my background color from white to blue I thought it was the coolest thing since Michael Jackson did the moonwalk... Over ten years later I took a giant leap of faith to dedicate my life to changing background colors on extremely complex React websites/applications that I've built & I absolutely love it!

I'm looking for a team of fun, motivated, and performant developers that I can learn and grow with. I'm most interested in using React and SCSS to deliver applications. I have a large desire to learn on the back end and I typically collaborate well with developers and designers of all types.

Tony Carbetta

Front End Web Developer

(415) 305-7198

Portfolio Github LinkedIn

TonyCarbetta@gmail.com